The Southwest region of the United States is one that captivates so many adventurers' hearts. Can you imagine yourself a homesteader crossing this vast land and coming upon the Grand Canyon? Or maybe you are a cowboy driving your cattle in search of fresh water, unexpectedly coming across a group of Native Americans? This 20-Day Adventure allows you to explore one of "The Seven Natural Wonders", experience a traditional Native Hogan, and develop an understanding how the forces of nature shaped the region's many rock formations. On top of that, you'll experience the world's first national park, Yellowstone National Park. There is no park in the world that can compare with the scenic, geologic, and animal diversity.
